

Eric Spry

Eric Spry is the Program Manager for HMDA Operations at the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau and leads the team in building, operating, and maintaining the in-house developed open source HMDA Platform. Based in Los Angeles, he has a history of leading diverse technical teams, delivering innovative solutions, and providing decision support. His career has focused on delivering cloud native applications, geospatial technologies, content management, and policy analysis. Previously he was Deputy GIO at the Federal Communications Commission in Washington DC, Web Manager at the International Transport Workers Federation, London UK, and Geospatial Research Specialist at CalFire in Sacramento, CA.